

Terms and Conditions for 10% Discount

Starting from October 28, 2024, Enefit public charging customers who are also Enefit electricity customers or have an Enefit charging station installed at home will receive a 10% discount (hereinafter referred to as the discount) on charging services within the Enefit public charging network.

The offer is valid indefinitely and applies as long as:

- The Enefit public charging customer (hereinafter referred to as the public charging customer) has a valid electricity supply contract (is an Enefit electricity customer); or
- The Enefit charging solution customer has ordered an electric vehicle charger installation for their home, including rental or purchase customers whose chargers are connected to the Enefit Volt Home platform (hereinafter referred to as the charging solution customer).

The discount can be applied to only one Enefit Volt account. One electricity or charging solution customer may have only one public charging account linked to the discount. The discount is activated only if the customer has fulfilled all contractual obligations to Enefit AS (including having no outstanding debts).

To activate the discount, a private customer must fill in the "Enefit EV public charging user name" field on the self-service page under "Contact details" and provide the email address used for the Enefit Volt account.

A notification about the discount activation will be sent via email to the address registered as the Enefit Volt app username. The discount takes effect from the moment the notification is received and is not applied retroactively.

Residents belonging to multi-apartment building associations who use collective purchasing are encouraged to activate the discount through the authorized representative of the association, who can submit a request via Enefit's self-service.

The discount applies to the kWh price listed on the Enefit public charging page and does not apply to time-based tariffs. The discount will be visible on the charging service invoice (the standard price will continue to be shown in the Enefit Volt app).

The discount is linked to the charging service plan and is non-transferable if the plan is changed. It cannot be combined or stacked with other offers or promotions.
